IT IS DOLLAR GAS.

THE OLD COMPANY GETS ITS FRAN-CHISE AT LAST.

PASSED OVER THE MAYOR'S VETO

THE COUNCIL DID NOT HESITATE TO STAND BY ITS RECORD.

SHORT, ENERGETIC MEETING.

LITTLE TALRING DONE AND NO AP PARENT FRICTION EXPERIENCED.

Only Two Members Went on Record as Be ing Opposed to the Rest Interests of the City-It Is All Over Now.

The gas fight was abruptly ended yesterday morning, when both houses of the council passed the ordinance granting the Kansas City Gas Light and Coke Company a franchise to do business for a period of thirty years. The ordinance was passed over the veto of the mayor, with only one dissenting vote in each

The advisability of passing the ordinance over the mayor's veto was called before the upper house at the special session in the forenoon yesterday. When the matter was first mentioned, an alderman sprang to his feet and denounced the old gas company in the strongest terms he could command. The speech had no visible effect, other than to force President Tiernan to leave the chair in order to make a statement of his position.

"I have been in this fight ever since it started," said Alderman Tiernan. "I did everything I could to assist the city in its struggle to secure dollar gas, and I am still for dollar gas. But at the same time I have always stated that I was willing at any time to give the old company a franchise, and that is my position now."

Alderman Shinnick succeeded Alderman Tiernan upon the floor. He was strongly in favor of the franchise, and said: "If we can settle the water works and gas questions in one meeting, I will think we have done a good day's work." Aderman Huttig also spoke, and the gist of his talk was to grant the ordinance and let the gas companies fight the thing out.

Then the vote was taken, which was announced amid a generous burst of applause from the assembled spectators. It was: Ayes-Huttig, Tiernan, Shinnick, Johnston, Wyne, Morrison, Phillips.

Nays-Morgan.

Absent-Dahl and Eyssell.

There was but little fighting done in the lower house. Councilman Kidwell spoke against the ordinance, in order, he said, to straighten himself with the sublic. He gave reasons for voting against the ordinance, but was not able to back them with arguments when Speaker Stoner took him to task. Finally he sat down, but before doing so he fully demonstrated his inability to maintain the stand he had chosen.

When Councilman Kidwell had finished, Councilman Bowman made a few sarcastic remarks upon the mayor's veto message. He said it was filled with "ifs" and possibilities-articles that have no weight with the council. Then also out on bond on the latter charge he reminded the council that the Snyder company had asked no favors, and stated that it would seem an unusual proceeding for the house to thrust them | Frank Johnson, Alias John Doe, Under Arupon it. Councilman Bowman closed by asking that the vote be taken. It resulted: Ayes-Brown, Bowman, Olson, Pendergast, Moran, Ctoner, Craig, Re-

Nay-Kidwell. Councilman Rieger, who voted against the ordinance when it was first presented to the house, arose when his name was called on the roll, and said: "On previous occasions I have voted against this ordinance because I thought the new company should be protected, but Mr. Snyder has stated that the new company has plenty of money, and does not need the protection of anyone. Therefore I change my vote to 'aye.' "

By the terms of the ordinance the city loses nothing and gains all. The company agrees to withdraw the motion for a rehearing in the quo warranto proceedings in the supreme court; it agrees to dismiss the injunction proceedings now pending in the United States court; it agrees to pay all costs in the gas litigation, and to pay the fees of the attorneys employed by the city in fighting

The city grants the privilege of operating the plant that is already con-

The fight of the old gas company was begun in 1892, when W. S. Cowherd was the mayor of Kansas City. In that year the Kansas City Gas Light and Coke Company applied to the council for a franchise to operate its plant for a pertod of thirty years, the gas to be sold at $1.60 per 1,000 cubic feet. Mayor Cowherd stated at the time that he understood gas could be manufactured and sold at a profit at $1 per 1,000 cubic feet. Therefore he refused to have anything to do with the $1.60 franchise. The matter was agitated for a short time and

When the present administration went When the present administration went into office, another effort was made to secure a franchise. In September, 1894, an ordinance was introduced, granting the company a franchise to run for thirty years, the gas to be sold for $1.55 per 1,000 cubic feet, or at $1.40 if the bills were paid before the 10th day of the month. This franchise was killed, however. Neither house of the council yeted favorably upon it.

nowever. Neither house of the council voted favorably upon it.

Then it was that the company established the claim of perpetuity of franchise, or corporate immortality. This was contested by the city, and F. Rozzelle, O. H. Dean and C. O. Tichenor brought quo warranto proceedings in the supreme court, requiring the company to show cause why it should not be declared legally dead.

After the proceedings had been insti-

After the proceedings had been insti-tuted, but before the case could be heard tuted, but before the case could be heard the Tiernan ordinance, making it unlawful to charge more than 81 per 1,000 cubic feet for gas, was passed by the council and was approved by the mayor. This added a different phase to the case, and the gas company brought injunction proceedings in the United States court in Kansas City, restraining the city from enforcing the Tiernan ordinance. The court granted a temporary injunction, which is still in effect, but will be dismissed before the old company's new franchise goes into effect.

Then the que warrante proceedings were heard in the supreme court. The old company was found to be legally dead, and a writ of ouster was granted by the court. The company applied for a rehearing of the que warranto proceedings. This motion is now pending, but will be dismissed at once.

All moneys collected at a rate in excess of $1 per 1,000 cubic feet for gas consumed since March 1 will be returned to the consumers, and the company will furnish dollar gas from now on.

As stated in the Journal some weeks ago. Loder was arrested and fined it and costs on August if for disturbing the peace and quietude of his wife. He had married his wife in Arkaness and was just on the eve of the end of the honeymoon whom he says she "up and left him in the dark of the night, with a doctor named John Smith." Leder followed the couple to Kanssa City and located them in the west part of town. He went before Justice Hawthorne and had a warrant issued for them. He could not wait for the law to take its course, havever, and, going to the house where he claims to have seen his wife and Dr. Smith living as man and wife, raised a disturbance. After he went away his wife sought out Justice Hawthorne and caused a warrant to be issued, charging her husband with disturbing her peace. Leder did not know of the action against him and waited ground the court room until he saw his aithless sponse brought in for trial. Then to followed her this the court room and was promptly confronted with the warrant. as promptly confronted with the war

His wife secured a stay of judgment and to fall. Later his wife was found guilty of misconduct and was given one day bening the bars. Loder got the line of $1 and costs mentioned above and has just succeeded in finishing the sentonce which it demanded. He will be arraigned before Justice Hawthorne as soon as the warrant is served upon him Monday. Dr. Smith has so far cluded the officers, who have a warrant charging him with adultery.

At the same time the warrant was sworn out for Hogers' arrest, another warrant was issued for the arrest of John Adams, charging him with assisting Rogers in the assault upon Newman. Adams has not yet been arrested. Newman presents a sorry appearance, and tells a sorrier tale regarding the assault upon himself. His right eye is exceedingly black, and his face bears marks or having been pretty roughly handled. He says that on the night of the assault, he says that on the night of the assault, he was going to his room, which is located over Frank Allen's saloon in Westport, to refire for the night, and was set apon by Rogers and Adams, who were a the room waiting for him. He mad got Mr. Allen to eash a check for $39 for him, and had placed the money in his watch socket. He charges that Rogers and Adams had seen the transaction, and predecial him to his room. As soon as he was safely in the room, he says one of the men locked the door and the other one if thim a summing blow in the face. They onthined the assault until he was completely exhausted, and then robbed him of the $20, and some money besides. They not deliberately threw him down stairs. on the Fake Order.

United States Marshal Jo Shelby has been very much annoyed for the past week over the publication of the story that a over the publication of the story that a Cuban fillbustering expedition was being formed in this city. The story originated in the fertile brain of a sensational reporter of an afternoon paper and had no other foundation than the idle chatter of a party of roistering fellows who were coaching their convivial qualities, near where the reporter chanced to be.

As was stated in the Journal yesterday, General Shelby states he will arrest any man known to be emaged in such an undertaking and yesterday he offered a reward of $100 for information that would lead to the apprehension of such parties.

It was applied to all kinds of netal, such as silverware, brass, statuary, marble, giass, bathtubs, etc., etc., and worked like magic. It is very quick and easy to use, and will not injure the most delicate lands, as it contains neither achies or injurious substances, it is different from most polishes, masmuch as it makes heither dust nor dirt, but can be used in the parior as well as in the kitchen. It is put up in twenty-five cent battles, and one bottle will last a year or more. No household is now complete without a bottle of this polish, and it can be obtained only at Johnson Brost, druggists, 1107 Main.
